ARGUING FOR THE TARIFF

Almost Without Exception They Want High Duty on Product Retained.

WASHINGTON, D. C. December 1.—
To-day's hearing on the proposed tariff revision was one of the most important of the entire series held by the House Ways and Means Committee.
Cotton manufacturers and silks and silk goods were the two important schedules taken up. In past tariff hearings these subjects have proven to be among those of greatest interest, and large delegations of manufacturers are expected from the various cotton manufacturing centres to-morrow to present their views to the committee. Cotton cloth, hostery and silk manufacturers are among the articles which will attract especial attention.

Silk and silk goods were taken up first. F. W. Chuney, of Manchester, Conn., president of the Silk Association of America, said that the important to the committee.
B. A. Levitt, on behalf of the ribon manufacturers would have they intend to present to the committee.
B. A. Levitt, on behalf of the ribon manufacturers of New York, asked that higher duties be imposed on ribbons woven in the fabric. He said if the increased protection was not granted the ribbon manufacturers would have to go out of business. A specific duty instead of the present in per cent ad valorem was asked on silk gloves by Julius Kaiser, of New York, on artificial silk by Charles of the silk gloves by Julius Kaiser, of New York, on artificial silk by Charles of the central protective tariff and silk gloves by Julius Kaiser, of New York, on artificial silk by Charles of the protective tariff and silk gloves by Julius Kaiser, of New York, on artificial silk by Charles of the protective tariff and silk gloves by Julius Kaiser, of New York, on artificial silk by Charles of the protective tariff and silk gloves by Julius Kaiser, of New York, on artificial silk by Charles of the protective tariff and silk gloves by Julius Kaiser, of New York, on artificial silk by Charles of the protective tariff and the protective for the protective tariff and the protective for the prot

An infant industry.

"The cotton industry is practically an infant industry at this time," said Samuel Ross, of New Bedford, Mass, secretary of the International Association of Mule Spinners. The manufacture of the cheaper class of the fabric in the South is an infant industry, while the manufacture of high-grade goods in the North is an infant industry."

series of questions and frequently affirmed the statements of the witness. Discussing the tariff system, Mr. Tompkins said he believed 80 per cent. of the people favored a tariff that would protect American industries, "Free traders are mere theorists, and if the government was turned over to them they could not run it," said Mr. Tompkins. "And if you were to turn the government over to the standpatters you would not have any government."

"Do you still say 'Amen,'" inquired Chairman Payne of Mr. Underwood.
R. G. Miller, of Charlotte, N. C., and G. Minot Weld, of Boston, Mass., asked for an increase in the rates in the fliner grades of cotton yarns.

George J. Martin, a manufacturer of lace curtains at West Newton. Mass., asked for a reduction in the duties on netting.

John L. Patterson, of North Carolins, asked that the duty on bleached and colored cotton damask be retained, and that the tariff on mercerized cotten damask be increased from 40 to 56 per cent.
